

Cities

In no civilization is city life evolved independently of commerce and industry. Neither antiquity nor modern times show any exception to this rule.

Henri Pirenne, Medieval Cities