

Income inequality

CEOs' total pay has also grown consistently above inflation in that period [2014 to 2019], attracting political scrutiny.

The Associated Press, using Equilar data, reported that the median pay package for the head of an S&P 500 company exceeded $12.3m in 2019, with the gap between CEOs and their workforces widening to the point where it would take the typical employee 169 years to make as much.

Financial Times, June 10, 2020